Colombia: A powerful earthquake hits communities already facing humanitarian needs

On August 10, 2026, a magnitude 7.4 earthquake struck western Colombia, affecting communities across 14 departments. Early reports count more than 176 deaths and many injuries. Homes, hospitals, schools and roads were damaged, and many families can't access clean water, electricity, or communications right now. Families are grieving, injured or unable to return safely to their homes.
